Quick Reference Guide

Made in the USA

The Shooter's Bag™ Story

"I designed my first shooter's bag to solve a problem, without a thought that I might actually end up in the photo bag business. As a staffer at the Philadelphia Inquirer, I needed a bag I could work out of fast, and on the run if need be. Most bags are designed more like carrying cases or storage devices, with way too much bulk and padding. This is not only unnecessary, but takes away utility, speed and capacity.

Jim Domke

Photojournalist and designer of the legendary
Shooter's Bag

The bag I created had the necessary cushioning, yet tons more room. It was designed so that I could get at my equipment instantly, without having to take the bag from my shoulder.

My colleagues liked my ideas and so did thousands of other photographers. What started as a kitchen table experiment is now a line of intelligently designed and executed bags and accessories that are recognized throughout the world as the photojournalist's choice."
